DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The IDS files 7/16/2004 has been lined through as all the references have already been listed in the IDS submitted 4/30/2004. The foreign reference listed in the IDS submitted 2/2004 is not properly identified on the IDS.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of the restriction in the reply filed on 5/09/2005 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the requirement does not establish that the two inventions are distinct. This is not found persuasive because the restriction requirement identifies the inventions as distinct for the following reasons. The process can be used to make products other than vehicle brakes and the brake can also be made through different processes. Note the brake assembly can be made without steps such as electric current heating, and the method can make composite materials such as clutch parts or structural components.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claims 11-20 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 5/09/2005

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 3, and 5-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Huang et al (US# 6699427)

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Huang et al discloses all the limitations of the instant claims including; combining a reinforcement material which includes carbon-containing fibers with a carbonizable matrix material to form a mixture; heating the mixture to a sufficient temperature to melt at least a portion of the matrix material, the step of heating including: applying an electric current to the mixture to generate heat within the mixture; and while heating the mixture, applying a pressure of at least 35 kg/cm² to the mixture to form a compressed composite material increasing the density of the compressed composite by introducing a carbonizable material into voids in the compressed composite and then baking the compressed composite to achieve a density of at least about 1.30 g/cm.³; and impregnating the compressed composite, having a density of at least about 1.30 g/cm.³, with a treating component. Note example one. The as pressed density is greater than 1.3 and the product is then further resin impregnated (readable on a treatment component).

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-10 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of double patenting over claims 1-10 of U. S. Patent No. 6878331 since the claims, if allowed, would improperly extend the "right to exclude" already granted in the patent.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the patent and is covered by the patent since the patent and the application are claiming common subject matter. Note the claims are nearly identical in subject matter.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant was prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application during prosecution of the application which matured into a patent. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.
